

THE EXPLOSIVE ASSIN FOSU

CENTRAL REGION, GHANA

Jumping, leaping and praising God

It promised to be an unforgettable gathering. Before the crusade, there was so much excitement in the air as thousands of people from villages far and near arrived at Assin Fosu with their belongings. Our buses kept 'pouring' them onto the large field we had prepared for the crusade.

Assin Fosu at that time of the year is known for incessant rainfall. For two weeks before the crusade, it had rained everyday; making it very difficult for our rigging team to pitch the giant tent and set up for the crusade. However, for the five days of the crusade, the skies held.

This in itself was a miracle. To some, this was more of a miracle than the lame who walked or the blind who saw.

The crowd of over 45,000 erupted into vibrant praise as the evangelist arrived. Hundreds of school children lined the street and ran after his convoy. Indeed, there was excitement in the air.

The faith of the multitude was so great that people brought dead relatives from the hospital to the crusade! They believed in the power of Jesus to raise the dead!

This crusade was also attended by some senior ministers who serve on the Healing Jesus Crusade International Board of Advisors. Some visitors also flew in from Nigeria and South Africa.

Each night was a razzmatazz! On day one, with such intensity, the evangelist preached on "Greater Love".

On day two, he answered the important question, "Who was Jesus Christ?" The growing crowd was awoken to reality on day three when the evangelist hammered on their 'doors' with the message "Behold I stand at the door and knock"....

The message of the cross and the blood of Jesus were well delivered during this crusade.

Over 90,000 copies of Dag Heward-Mills' books were given out during this crusade! Several pastors from village churches attended the morning conferences.

Dag Heward-Mills is at his best when ministering to pastors. He meticulously shared with them on the anointing and on ministry. These conferences are attended by several hundred pastors from villages; some of whom may not have the means to ever attend a conference. They were given sets of Dag Heward-Mills' books.

For the first time in the history of the Healing Jesus Medical Missions, two teams of medical personnel were present at the free medical outreach. On the average, they treated 1,200 patients each day for three days. On the third day of the clinic, the crowd of patients waiting to be seen had swollen to over 3,000! It was around 4pm that the drugs ran out.

"The miracles that occurred each night brought tears to my eyes." said Reverend Jackson Ekwugum, publisher of the LifeWay Magazine in Nigeria, who flew to Ghana just to attend this crusade. Up on the platform, people testified of the most notable miracles. Cripples danced for joy!

The Assin Fosu crusade turned out to be, as aforementioned, a razzmatazz! The blood of Jesus washed the entire region in an unprecedented way.

Village folk now have a chance to enter the Kingdom! Thank you Healing Jesus Crusade partners, for making all this possible.
